Towing Guide. A key aspect of buying a towable RV is understanding the tow rating of your current (or future) vehicle. Pay attention to the automobile's Gross Vehicle Weight Rating (normally found on a sticker inside the driver's side door frame). This number is the maximum weight your vehicle should tow.

Just like a shopping cart, your front tires want to spin around while backing up. As a result, you can easily damage your towed vehicle or the towing system due to jackknifing. Exact Center resists those forces, thereby allowing most towed vehicles to be backed up like a trailer. This is a game changer.

3. Ford Ranger (2019-2021) Ford's midsize pickup, the Ranger, is a popular choice for flat towing here at our shop. The Ranger took a hiatus from 2011 to 2018, but it's back with new models for 2019-2021. Not only do these trucks provide a more compact alternative to full-size pickups, they also feature a super clean look with flat tow components installed, making them a favorite among RVers.

Inflatables Guide. Inflatables have a very interesting history, which, like many types of boats, predates their use as recreational vessels. To prevent damage and injury when transferring people from one boat to another, the inflatable collar was developed to ring the entire boat in what amounts to a shock-absorbing inner-tube.

Guide to Flat Towing . Flat towing your vehicle is much more convenient than using a trailer or a tow dolly. These other options take up much more storage space, leaving you less room both at home and at the campsite. In addition, securing your vehicle to a trailer or tow dolly can be a hassle and more time consuming than hooking up with a tow bar.
