"The children rarely visited the big house as a family when the old Earl was alive. Growing up they knew nothing about their heritage," Brown writes in The Diana Chronicles. The estate sits on 13,000 acres in the English countryside, and contains 28 listed buildings and structures. The 100,000-square-foot, 90-room mansion is just the start.

Psychological trauma is damage to a person's mind as a result of one or more events that cause overwhelming amounts of stress that exceed the person's ability to cope or integrate the emotions involved, eventually leading to serious, long-term negative consequences. Trauma is not the same as mental distress or suffering, both of which are universal human experiences.
