If  $c$  is a multiple of  $g$ , the Diophantine equation has solution, otherwise, there is no solution. That is, if  $c$  is a multiple of  $g$ , then. and one of the possible solutions is: If either  $a$  or  $b$  is negative, we can solve equation using its modulus, then change sign accordingly. If we know one of the solutions, we can find their general form.
